WHEREAS, Saturday, May 7, 1977, marks the graduation of Sydna Kiefer of Cheyenne County, South Dakota State University; and,

WHEREAS, This day marks the graduation of Sydna Kiefer after years of diligent study and work which began in South Dakota State University in 1961; and,

WHEREAS, A non-major Bachelor of Science degree in an honorable, commendable and unusual academic field; and,

WHEREAS, The successful completion of a weaving class is an appropriate and fitting way to finish a non-major degree; and,

WHEREAS, In addition to her fine accomplishments in the academic field, Sydna has been actively involved in three of my campaigns for public office, and has survived 6613 days of marriage to one Herb Cheever, both of which are nearly impossible tasks; and,

WHEREAS, The graduation of Sydna after so many years of hard work and study, and devotion to public service and home life, is certainly worthy of public recognition in the State of South Dakota; and,

WHEREAS, It is too late for me to recommend Sydna for the job of United States Ambassador to the Republic of China to insure the successful carrying out of the objectives of Senate Concurrent Resolution Number Three; and,

WHEREAS, An Executive Proclamation is the most fitting way of recognizing Sydna's outstanding achievement; and,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, RICHARD L. KIEFER, Governor of the State of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim that on May 7, 1977, as in South Dakota, and let it be so proclaimed.

in witness whereunto I have hereunto set my hand and official seal of the State of South Dakota.

RICHARD L. KIEFER, GOVERNOR
